Objective:

I cannot control what I am and where I am from, however I can control what my future holds. My upbringing in my community has helped me develop into a very determined and respected hard worker. Whenever given the opportunity I have always capitalized and will do so by personalizing the company's goals and making them my own. I have the drive and will to set challenges for myself and fulfil them. I was raised to thrive in whatever work setting I may be put into. Whether it be individual, or team oriented I truly believe that because of my charismatic mindset and ability to learn quickly I will be a great candidate in any role that must be filled.
